DOMAINE LES GRYPHÉES
Beaujolais ‘Cuvée Le Paquet’

You can’t ignore the “gryphées,” or seashell fossils, that crunch underfoot as you walk through Pierre Durdilly’s vineyards in Le Bois d’Oignt, as if the ocean were just over the next hill. It’s the region’s unique terroir, with its mineral complexity, that sets the family’s suave wines apart from other less refined, rustic interpretations of Gamay. In particular, their old-vine Moulin-à-Vent combines the floral elegance of cru Fleurie and the muscle of cru Morgon for a supple, balanced wine that is fruity and expressive in its youth yet will age gracefully over the years.
