

AZIENDA AGRICOLA SKERLJ

Venezia Giulia (Carso) Terrano

Carso, or the Karst region, is a limestone plateau that reaches from northeastern Italy into southwestern Slovenia. In this breathtaking yet rustic corner of Italy, vines share space with wild forest and family farms. In the 1960s, winemaker Matej Skerlj's grandfather opened an "osmizza" in their home village of Sales. In addition to offering homemade wine, he sold eggs laid by the family's hens and homemade salumi. Inspired by the potential of their vineyards and eager to farm organically, Matej and his sister Kristina in 2004 started making their own wines from native grapes Terrano, Malvasia and Vitovska. Theirs are wines that don't just express terroir but scream it—the combination of limestone soils, influence of the sea and intense flavors of Carso's native grapes is nothing less than awe-inspiring.

WINERY: Azienda Agricola Skerlj (scare-LEE)

WINEMAKER: Matej Skerlj

ESTABLISHED: 1960s

REGION: ITALY • Friuli • Sales

APPELLATION: Venezia Giulia (Carso) DOC

BLEND: 100% Terrano

VINEYARDS: A selection of fruit from five acres of family-planted vineyards carved from the surrounding forest. Soils are thin "terra rossa," iron-rich, with solid limestone subsoils (karst).

AGE OF VINES: 20 years

WINEMAKING: Hand-harvested. Fermented with indigenous yeasts on the skins for three weeks, with natural temperature fluctuations, in older oak barrels. Aged in older barrel (in the family's hand-carved limestone cellar) for two years. Bottled unfiltered and unfiltered.

TASTING IMPRESSIONS: Aromas of savory herbs, licorice, tar, red and purple stone fruits. Wild, energetic; earthy, savory. A pure reflection of the breathtaking landscape of Carso!

PAIRING SUGGESTIONS: Grilled game sausages; cured meats with dried herbs; well-aged soft cheeses
