Cantine Olivella

Campania | Italy

Here on the slopes of Monte Summa, the oldest part of Vesuvius—the volcano that destroyed Pompeii and continues to rumble, shaking daily the nerves of the Napolitani—grape growing is an ancient art, the lava-rich, sandy slopes of the volcano providing perfect terroir for rare, native grapes such as Catalanesca and Piediroso. Ciro Giordano (pictured), together with winemaker Andrea Cozzolino, started this project in 2004, which includes vineyards in the Vesuvio National Park, a protected area that provides vines with an ideal biodiversity in which to thrive. This is fine winemaking that respects the natural landscape of Vesuvius while cultivating historic vines on soils that have known them for centuries. Certified organic.

Domaine Amelie & Charles Sparr

Alsace | France

Charles represents the 12th generation of his family of Alsatian negociants-vignerons; his wife Amelie hails from the larger Barmès-Buecher winemaking clan, natives of Wettolsheim. Inheriting vineyards from both sides of the family—some 30 acres, including four grand crus—the couple started their own domaine in 2017 to create terroir-true, dry wines according to organic/biodynamic principles. One of France's most engaging winemaking regions, Alsace today is on the cusp of a vinous reawakening. Young talents like Charles and Amelie are shaking things up for the better, with a more disciplined look at Alsace's rich terroir, matching grape varietals with soils that express them best. Certified biodynamic.

Domaine du Couvent

Burgundy | France

Named to Wine & Spirits' Top 100 Winery list for 2023

Winemaker Philippe Chéron is the talent behind Domaine du Couvent, a family-run estate based in an ancient convent in Gevrey-Chambertin. Totalling some 25 acres in the Côte de Nuits, the estate owns a grand diversity of terroirs, including parcels in Gevrey, Chambolle and Vougeot, as well as Vosne, Nuits and Marsannay—not to mention three monopole vineyards. Calling himself a "winemaker in the service of his vineyards," Philippe—now with his son Paul, who works in both the fields and the cellar—makes clear in each special and rare bottle that terroir should be center stage. Practicing organic.

Domaine du Vent

Languedoc | France

"We go where the wind takes us," was long the motto of Nathalie and Benjamin Boyer, two talented winemakers-for-hire, who for many years crafted wines for other domaines across France. After living in regions as diverse as Burgundy, Corsica and Monbazillac, the duo decided it was time to do their own thing. The wind finally brought them to a plot of land in Fitou, one of Languedoc's oldest appellations, and a winery serendipitously named Domaine du Vent: "of the wind." Here this mountainous, Mediterranean terroir and its star grape, Carignan, give red wines of spice and substance. Practicing organic.

Ciro Giordano and winemaker Andrea Cozzolino started their project in 2004, to show the potential of ancient vineyards on the slopes of active volcano Vesuvius, a region with thousands of years of viticultural history. Winemaker Diego Finocchi is a one-man winery, caring for 12 acres of mountain Sangiovese amid the steeply graded hills and valleys of Radda in Chianti, the heart of the Chianti Classico zone. At Tenuta di Valgiano, biodynamics is the rhythm to which everything moves: the vineyards and the olive trees, the bees and the chickens. Sangiovese here delivers a Bacchic pleasure, profound and pure. Tenuta di Valgiano has won Italy's coveted "Tre Bicchieri" (three glasses) award for its Colline Lucchesi Rosso more than a dozen times in recent years. Certified biodynamic.

BEAUJOLAIS

DOMAINE DES BRAVES

Régnié (reh-NYAY) combines the floral perfumes of neighboring Brouilly with the black fruit of Morgon. Like so many winemaking families, the Cinquins have passed the winemaking torch from father to son for four generations. Practicing sustainable farming.

PAUL DURDILLY ET FILS

A majority of the soil in Le Bois d'Oingt is limestone, similar to the "mother rock" of the Côte d'Or. This terroir secret is what makes Gamay wines produced by the Durdillys, a generations-old Beaujolais family, so elegant and long-lived. Practicing sustainable farming.

DOMAINE LES GRYPHÉES

"Gryphées" are seashell fossils, and the Durdilly family's high-altitude vineyards are full of them. Such chalky terroir is unique, contributing a stony minerality and refined aromatic profile to the family's wines. In recent years, the family has expanded their vineyard holdings in some of Beaujolais' top cru villages, crafting picture-perfect Gamay wines from very old vines. Practicing sustainable farming.

CHÂTEAU LEROY-BEAUVAL

This history of this estate in the village of Saint-Sulpice-et-Cameyrac, between Libourne and Bordeaux, reaches back to the 17th century. BURGUNDY – CHABLIS*DOMAINE DE CHANTEMERLE (A. & F. BOUDIN)

Chablis from winemaker Francis Boudin is naturally made and aged only in tank. In keeping with the family's natural philosophy, the Boudins did not replant their Chardonnay vines with high-yielding clones, as was the fad in the 1970s. Practicing sustainable farming.

Romain and Damien Bouchard founded their winemaking estate only in 2016, yet they are the fourth generation of their clan to toil the chalky Kimmeridgian soils of Chablis. With a passion to craft Chablis wines according to “simple and natural” methods, the brothers—who call themselves “perfectionists”—have set a higher standard for the character-driven wines of Chablis. Certified organic.

The village of Chitry (she-TREE), 20 miles southwest of Chablis proper, has exactly the same terroir as does its more famous neighbor. Because winemaker Marie-Ange Robin's father, Guy, refused to tear up vines for high-yielding clones as was the practice decades ago in Chablis, some 80 percent of the estate's vines—in five grand cru and four premier cru vineyards—are very old vines.

DOMAINE BOUARD-BONNEFOY

Carine Bonnefoy represents the fourth generation of a Chassagne winemaking family; her husband, winemaker Fabrice Bouard, was formerly a bodyguard for French dignitaries. Vincent Boyer is a hands-in-the soil grower in an appellation where many wineries just coast on Meursault's reputation. While most winemakers blend, Vincent bottles separately his many exceptional villages-level vineyards. Vincent now ages his wines in a combination of older foudre and egg-shaped cement casks, for wines that are even more expressive of their underlying terroir. Practicing sustainable farming.
